None present.

This is a suit for administration of the property of the deceased Masood Ali Khan, who died in 1997 in India. The suit was filed on 07.3.2000 and there was hardly any contest from the defendants' side except an oral statement of learned counsel made in Court on 16.4.2001 that the list of the properties and assets is not correct and the entire properties mentioned in the list are not in the name of deceased nothing else has been asserted. However as required a preliminary decree was also prepared by order dated 16.4.2001. The burden was on defendant No.1 & 2 to identify the other properties but they have not even filed written statement nor provided details thereof to the Official Assignee who was appointed Commissioner to determine assets and properties of the deceased. Even after preliminary decree the defendants till date have not raised any dispute for adjudication. I do not find any issue between the parties for adjudication neither anyone has come forward to press his claim to defeat the preliminary decree passed by this Court. Since for the last several years there is no contest regarding preliminary decree, therefore, preliminary decree is converted into final decree and the suit stand decreed as prayed.
