JUDGMENT

Agha Faisal, J. The petitioners have assailed the respective decisions denying thereto the opportunity to have their taxation grievances adjudicated before an alternate dispute resolution committee. At the very onset, learned counsel for the respondents brought to our attention that a similar controversy already stands determined by this Court in the Ansari Sugar case<sup>1</sup>.

2. It is considered illustrative to reproduce the relevant observations and findings of the Ansari Sugar case herein below:

“It is considered appropriate to discuss the implication of Attock Petroleum at the very onset. The honorable Supreme Court observed that the relevant scheme of ADR was envisaged to settle fiscal disputes without the intervention of court; however, the same was not amenable for adjudication of criminal liability. The reference to criminal liability was in relation to that arising pursuant the relevant fiscal statutes; however, the said pronouncement did not confer any right upon a party to unilaterally insist upon the adjudication of a lis via ADR. Therefore, reliance of the petitioners upon the said authority does not augment their position in the question before us.

3. Section 47-A<sup>2</sup> of the Act envisages recourse to ADR, subject to the terms and conditions delineated therein. The statutory provision is qualified and does not confer an inalienable right upon a party to pick and choose fora. On the contrary the provision provides for dissolution of the constituted committee, leaving the matter to be decided by the court / appellate authority, inter alia if the matter is not resolved within a stipulated time.

4. In the present facts and circumstances<sup>3</sup> a show cause notice was issued on 18-12-2018, culminating in an order in original dated 23.01.2019. The appeal there against was dismissed vide order dated 03.05.2019, where after the same was assailed before the ATIR on 17.05.2019 (the proceedings in respect whereof remain pending). Successive stay applications were dismissed by the ATIR on 26.06.2019 and 16.10.2019<sup>4</sup> and thereafter the request for ADR was preferred on 06.12.2019. Per respondents' counsel, further proceedings in respect of recovery remain stayed pursuant to ad interim orders obtained in the present petitions.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioners has been unable to demonstrate any vested right before us to insist upon adjudication via ADR, moreover, when recourse thereto was only sought upon conclusion of the proceedings particularized supra. No case was made out before us to restrain proceedings before the ATIR, initiated by the petitioners themselves. It is thus our considered view that the petitioners have been unable to advance any cogent grounds to abjure the statutory dispute resolution mechanism; however, they shall remain at liberty to seek appropriate redress if aggrieved by the findings of the ATIR.

In view of the reasoning herein contained, we find the listed petitions to be devoid of merit, hence, the same, along with pending application/s, were dismissed vide our short order dated 23.12.2020. These are the reasons for the aforementioned short order.”

6. We are in concurrence with the learned counsel for the respondents that the judgment of the Ansari Sugar case is squarely applicable in the present facts and circumstances; and even the learned counsel for the petitioners has articulated no cavil in such regard.

7. In view hereof and in mutatis mutandis application of the reasoning and ratio of the Ansari Sugar case, as enumerated supra, the present petitions, along with pending application/s, are hereby dismissed.
