Urgency granted.

This being suit for administration came up before me today when an application under Order 23 Rule 3 CPC was presented by the plaintiff to suggest that the parties have amicably settled their disputes in terms of the settlement agreement. There is only one property left by the deceased. The plaintiffs are son and daughters from the first wife, whereas defendant No.1 in terms of the fact of the case, is second wife. In terms of the agreement due share of defendant No.1 was paid in cash which she acknowledges in the agreement as well as today in court. The keys of the house, subject property, alongwith original documents was handed over to the three plaintiffs jointly.

The compromise being within frame of the suit is taken on record. The suit is accordingly decreed in terms of the compromise and decree be drawn accordingly.
