After arguing the case at some length, learned counsel for applicant has agreed, in view of the fact that challan has been submitted in the court and the case is fixed for framing of the charge, not to press this application and move an application u/s 265-K Cr.P.C. before the trial court for the same relief; as well as an application for de-freezing bank accounts of the applicant which according to learned counsel have been frozen since 2021 when FIR was registered. This proposal has not been opposed by either side from the other side.

Accordingly, this Cr. Misc. Application is disposed of as not pressed, in view of ratio laid down by the Honourable Supreme Court that when Challan is submitted before the trial court, the same court shall be approached first u/s 265-K or 249- Cr.P.C as the case may be for the same relief. However, as and when an application u/s 265-K Cr.P.C is filed by the applicant, the same may be decided first within a period of one month before proceeding with trial on merits. Further, if any application for de-freezing the bank accounts is filed by the applicant, the same shall also be decided expeditiously within a period of one month of its filing.

The Cr.Misc. Application is disposed of in the above terms alongwith listed applications.
